

SARAH TÉIBO

Multiple award winning singer/ songwriter, Sarah Téibo has been pushing the boundaries since her entry into the UK Gospel scene late 2015 with her debut single 'Steal My Joy', which was quickly followed by her debut album 'Walk With Me' unveiled at London's 606 Jazz Club in May 2016. This bagged her a MOBO nomination for Best Gospel in the same year and the gong for Best Album 2017 at the prestigious Premier Gospel Awards, UK

Sarah's love for music was highly influenced by her parents' taste in music and their rich vinyl collection which featured amongst others, Soul and R&B legends like Stevie Wonder and Diana Ross. She grew up listening to these phenomenal artists and recalls memories of singing along to Marvin Gaye with her mom

On 'Keep Walking', her second full-length album released on 29th June 2018, Sarah demonstrates her growth and versatility through such songs as the album title track, 'Keep Walking', which is a beautiful, melodic ballad encouraging the listener to keep going in spite of setbacks. Incorporating her strong Motown influences coupled with her love for live instruments, 'Keep Walking' features a live harp which gives the singer's soulful sound a classical overture. Recorded in the midst of Sarah's grief following the loss of her mother, the project echoes messages of hope and reminders to count our blessings; because even when things appear bleak we can find something to be thankful for. Instant hit, 'Like a Child featuring Jason Nicholson-Porter and Tehillah Daniel' was the first single released off the album in January 2018. The remix version gives the song a playful, edgy, funk makeover featuring Grammy award winning Gospel mega-star, Fred Hammond.
